SUMMARY I am currently pursuing a degree in Computer Science and Engineering at the Indian Institute of Information Technology Una. As someone who values organization and responsibility, I take pride in my ability to efficiently manage tasks and approach my studies with a structured mindset. I am a quick learner, able to grasp new concepts quickly, and have the ability to maintain focus for extended periods, which enables me to dive deep into complex problems. Alongside my technical skills, I am also strong in communication and teamwork, which allows me to collaborate effectively with peers. I am eager to contribute to any team and seek opportunities for both personal and professional growth through hands-on experience.
